DREW YATES COMMUNITY GROUP

- How much time is this going to take? We typically meet around 5:30-6:00 and try to finish at or before 8:00pm.
- What are we going to do with our children during group meetings? Children are definitely invited! Our group is a neat blend of youngsters (1 yr all the way up to HS Seniors.) So we have free babysitting!
- Will there be homework? If so, how much? No homework for the most part. If we decide, as a group, to do a book together then we hope each member will come prepared.
- Am I going to have to talk or can I just sit and listen during meetings? You don't have to say anything, but you will always be free to say what is on your heart.
- Will I have to pray out loud? Not if you don't want to.
- Who else is going to be in the group? We have 6 total families.
- How much do I have to know about the Bible? Honestly nothing! We are all learning more every day. We are definitely not theologians.
- How many weeks or months is the group going to last? Our group has been together for a couple of years.
- If I don't like it, can I leave without people being angry with me? Absolutely. We hope you find the place/group that is the right fit for you.
- What are we going to do during meetings?
  - Eat/fellowship and then begin our study around 6:30-7pm.
  - Time of sharing (if you want to) for prayer/praises.
  - Open discussion about the sermon or discussion points provided.
